"New trends and challenges in ICT Education"
for CODIT 2025
July 15-18, 2025 ▪ Split, Croatia

Session Co-Chairs:
Prof. Claudia Califano - (email: claudia.califano@uniroma1.it)
Università di Roma La Sapienza, Dip. di Ingegneria informatica automatica e gestionale "Antonio Ruberti", Via Ariosto 25, 00185 Rome, Italy

Session description:
This special session is dedicated to attract the interest and attention of the ICT community, with a particular focus on those engaged in the educational field. Its primary goal is to explore and discuss emerging approaches, challenges, and trends in the design and delivery of courses and topics within the ICT domain, especially in the post-pandemic landscape. The session aims to make learning in the ICT field more engaging, practical, and integrated with the new available technologies. Additionally, the session aims to highlight the opportunities to facilitate the mobility of students and professors, thus encouraging international collaboration, knowledge sharing, and cultural exchange. Consequently the session promotes a globally interconnected ICT education system.

The topics of interest for this session include, but are not limited to:

- Innovative Student-Friendly Approaches: New proofs, demonstrations, or presentations of classical problems that are tailored to improve student comprehension and engagement.

- Hands-On Learning Experiences: Student-friendly laboratory experiments designed to bridge theory and practice, making the ICT topics more attractive.

- Global Mobility Networks: Examples of successful networks or programs facilitating student and professor mobility in the field of ICT Engineering, showcasing best practices and impactful outcomes.

This session encourages participants to share insights, research, and experiences that will collectively contribute to advancing the educational practices and collaborative opportunities within the ICT community.
